

My grandmother's birthday party

My grandmother's birthday party. It was really a big day for our family. Our grandmother was 60 years old and we wanted to make a big party for her. She didn't know about our plan. We invited all family and neighbors. My mother cooked dinner, my father served drinks and alcohol and (50w) me with my cousin baked cake. This party we prepared in our garden. It was very nice. We bought lamps and another decoration. Grandmother was in hospital for 2 weeks, so she knew nothing. My uncle brought her at five o'clock. She was surprised and very happy. She got a (50w) lot of presents. For examples: purple carpet, easy chair, new television and of course- flowers. But our grandfather has the best present for her. It was a holiday for her and his. But it wasn't ordinary holiday. They travelled to a place, where they were on their first together holiday. Grandmother was (50w) happy, surprised and she cannot believe it. It was the best surprise for her. Her party finished after midnight and every liked this party.
